COLUMBUS PREPARES FOR EDUCATION MEET

Visit of President Hoover Seen as Possibility; More Than 20,000 Expected.

COLUMBUS, O., June 10 — With between 23,000 and 25,000 teachers to be visitors in the state capital, Columbus is completing preparations to entertain the National Education association, one of the largest educational organizations in the United States.

The convention of the N. E. A. opens here Saturday, June 28, and runs through July 4, with the possibility that President Hoover may come on July 4 to give the principal address. Every effort is being made to have the president come here.

Should the chief executive come he will make his address in the big stadium of Ohio State university.

Aside from the convention features proper, the address of leading educators and other prominent persons, there will be several spectacular events, that are expected to draw thousands of persons, other than teachers, to Columbus.

One of these will be a pageant, "Ohio's Contribution to Educational Progress of the Nation." This will be presented in Ohio Stadium the night of June 30, and the big bowl, scene of many a notable football battle since its opening in 1922, will be lighted for the first time in its career.

Several thousand persons, including many school children, will take part in this pageant. There will be one chorus of some 5,000 students. A gigantic flag drill with several thousand school children is another program feature, this being scheduled for July 4.

Ohio Woman Denies Engagement to Man Who Seeks $50,000.

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., June 10 — A denial that they had ever been engaged was the answer today of Mrs. Ruth Grant Markham to the $50,000 breach of promise suit filed by Fred W. Morley of Angola, Ind., former Oberlin college student.

Morley said in his petition that Mrs. Markham's marriage broke an engagement and caused him to lose a "desirable matrimonial alliance." Mrs. Markham declared that the suit followed attempts by Morley to extract money from her mother, a wealthy resident of Oberlin.

IT REMAINED FOR WESTINGHOUSE TO COMBINE THESE Three REFRIGERATOR CONVENIENCES

Improvements made during 12 years' experiments in one of world's largest laboratories

WESTINGHOUSE has succeeded in producing the first refrigerator which has all three refinements required by the modern housewife!

It provides the convenience of the Buffet-Top — which is really the top of the hood. It offers an outside shelf especially handy when food is being taken from or replaced in the cabinet. Step-saving, time-saving — this refinement simplifies your food preparation.

The Temperature-Selector — A legible dial with seven freezing speeds — each one of which is automatically maintained — is placed on the center front panel, arm-high, where it is most easily adjusted. This efficient regulator hurries up ice cubes and desserts.

Broom-High Legs allow a full eleven-inch clearance for sweeping and cleaning. Their broad, flat glider feet protect your floor covering.

These unusual advantages were made possible by the compact, hermetically sealed mechanism which Westinghouse developed after over twelve years' experiments. It is small enough to tuck under the hood — to permit the many refinements which the new Westinghouse offers.

All these desirable qualities have been built into but one refrigerator! May we show you these points . . . the improved mechanism of the new Westinghouse . . . and its many other features?

PRISON PLAN GIVEN START

Classification of Prisoners in Ohio Expected To Be Started in July.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 10—Classification of prisoners, one of the most important steps in Ohio's prison reform program, will start early in July.

This was announced by Welfare Director Hal H. Griswold after the state emergency board appropriated $15,000 yesterday for creation of a division of psychiatry in the welfare department. The division, recommended by Governor Cooper's welfare commission, will examine all penal wards and classify them as to types. These tests will determine the basis of development of the institutional building program which the commission has been preparing since its appointment shortly after the penitentiary fire disaster of April 21.

Griswold set July 1 as the dates he expects to have the division in operation. The funds appropriated by the emergency board will maintain the division until January when the legislature will be asked to provide money to continue the work.

The board told Griswold to use funds already available to employ six additional police officers as recommended by the welfare body, and indicated it would appropriate additional funds for this purpose when needed.

Roumania's selection of Carol for king goes to show that the world supply of king material is mighty low.

The farmers of Kansas are cutting their wheat two weeks earlier than usual, which again prompts the question: "What's the matter with Kansas?"

Were you out last night in response to the request of the American Meteor society to look for and report to it any meteors seen either last night or tonight. No? Neither were we.

"Queens are generally guided by wise men," says Dean Inge," and kings by foolish women." As a rule, the dean's remark may pass, but it's a cinch that he wasn't looking at his own king when he uttered it.

Senator Borah says that "a radical in these days is one who believes in the constitution of the United States." Are we to understand that this changes the rather general classification of the Hon. William?

A recently-published comparison of taxi fares charged in the larger cities of the world shows that the eight-cent-a-mile charge in Paris is the lowest the world over. It's a contrary old world in which we live. Who wants to go that far away from home to get a cheap taxi ride?

Sussex county, New Jersey, boasts that it has one citizen eighty years old or over to every 226 of its population. Mr. Ponce de Leon looked in the wrong place for that fountain of youth.

Washington press correspondents are hinting that Premier MacDonald reneged on the understanding arrived at between him and President Hoover on the Rapidan regarding naval limitation. It is manifest that a cog was slipped somewhere.

"What I lament," Gilbert K. Chesterton is quoted as remarking, "is the importance of headlines and the unimportance of headwork." Gilbert should supply a chart to indicate whether he holds the world mentally deficient or merely lazy.

It is something of a coincidence that the speech broadcasted by former Senator James A. Reed, Sunday night, was cut off to pick up a faint S O S call, of which nothing has since been heard, just as he began an attack on the Radio Corporation of America as a monopoly, such a coincidence, in fact, as needs explanation.

It Doesn't Seem Possible.

As the result of a fire in a six-story building on Twenty-Seventh street in New York City in which three men, and possibly more, lost their lives, federal prohibition agents last week took possession of the biggest alcohol distillery ever discovered in the East.

The building, supposed to have been occupied by an oil engine corporation, was utilized throughout for distillery purposes, and nothing that looked like an oil engine was found therein. The dry agents did find, however, eighteen tanks, each of 5,000 gallons storage capacity, the necessary boilers in the cellar and huge copper pipes running from the cellar to the roof and back again making six-story worms for the wholesale distilling to which the building was devoted, the plant being estimated to have been worth not less than 500,000. And in an adjoining building they found supplies and trucks used for the distilling and delivery of the product of the plant.

Those who have been guests at any of the hotels in the immediate vicinity of Twenty-Seventh street or have gone down to Guffanti's at Seventh avenue and Twenty-Sixth street or any of the nearby table d'hote restaurants for a spaghetti dinner will have a pretty fair idea of the location of Twenty-Seventh street, on which this distillery was located just to the west of Seventh avenue, and will naturally wonder how such a plant could run for over a year, as it is now known to have been operated for at least fourteen months, and escaped detection by the police authorities of the city, to say nothing of the dry enforcement force of the government. And they will just as naturally wonder regarding the probable extent of the official corruption which made the operation of the plant possible without interference until attention was called to it by a fire within. It hardly seems possible that a plant of such magnitude could be operated and the delivery of its product continued any length of time without arousing suspicion unless those retained to enforce the laws were given some consideration for looking the other way.

The Clinton County Looting.

Two state examiners have reported to the state bureau of accounting that Clinton county road funds have been looted during the last ten years to the extent of $120,003.66.

It is frequently the case that state examiners report the misuse of funds without imputing criminal intent on the part of those against whom they make their charges, but the charges made as the result of the misuse of funds in Clinton county are not of violation of the law without intent to defraud, but rather charges of the deliberate misuse of funds by those implicated in the looting and the appropriation of them to their own personal uses. And the examiners have ample ground for their charges in the conviction of the county auditor, who is now in the Ohio penitentiary for his part in the looting, and that of one of the three county commissioners, who is now awaiting sentence, and is also under indictment with the other two commissioners charged with misuse of funds, to say nothing of the cases of a contractor, a township trustee, an alleged go-between and five others against whom recovery charges are made.

The office of auditor in any Ohio county has long been an important one, and the same may be said for the office of commissioner, the importance of the latter having been notably increased since the coming of the automobile into general use and the expenditure of scores upon scores of millions of dollars in the state for the construction and maintenance of hard-surfaced highways.

Yet there is possibly more indifference on the part of the average citizen regarding who shall, or shall not, hold the office of commissioner than concerning any other elective office of the county with the possible exception of that of coroner.

The result sometimes is, just as it evidently was in Clinton county, that men lacking the stability of character to resist temptation take advantage of the primary system, under which they do not have to pass the scrutiny of either party conventions or party leaders, to get into the office, and if in their county the auditor is of the same stripe, the public is liable to be robbed.

Here in Marion county we have been very fortunate in our county officials so far as their honesty has been concerned. The overwhelming majority of them have been men of probity and filled their offices well. But that we have been fortunate, in this respect has been more a matter of good luck than the result of the system followed in recent years in the selection of candidates for office, for the system has been bad. The primary system, as manifested by the deterioration of our official life throughout the county, leaves many loopholes through which the unfitted and the unworthy may gain office. There should be party selection and party sponsorship behind every candidate for political office.

It is now known that the presentation of Mrs. Christopher Courtney was recalled because of the discovery of the fact that she was a divorcee when she married Captain Courtney, presentation of divorced women at court being forbidden. Wonder what will be the attitude of King George toward the Roumanian moral washout, Carol?

While Norwalk is yet all worked up over its ape, it is evident that a lot of the bootleg stuff isn't so bad as some are inclined to make out. Were it, the Norwalkians by this time probably would have been seeing purple rhinoceroses with yellow polka dots.

Three men are being tried in the federal court in Peoria, Illinois, charged with using the mails to defraud, being accused of selling an "infra red cap" to raise hair on bald heads. No doubt, had they held out that they could raise hair on ivory billiard balls they would have found people sufficiently credulous to have believed them.

The Democrats of North Carolina defeated Senator Furnifold M. Simmons for holding the national ticket of the party in 1928. It's a pity the Republicans of some of our states haven't enough party spirit and backbone to do likewise, notably those of Nebraska.

In his lecture at University college in Nottingham, England, Dr. Albert Einstein uttered a new theory to the effect that space, in effect, is the real solid, and matter is of only secondary importance—an unsubstantial dream; that "space has now turned around" and "is eating up matter;" that "space is now having its revenge." Mighty simple, that, if it only could be understood!

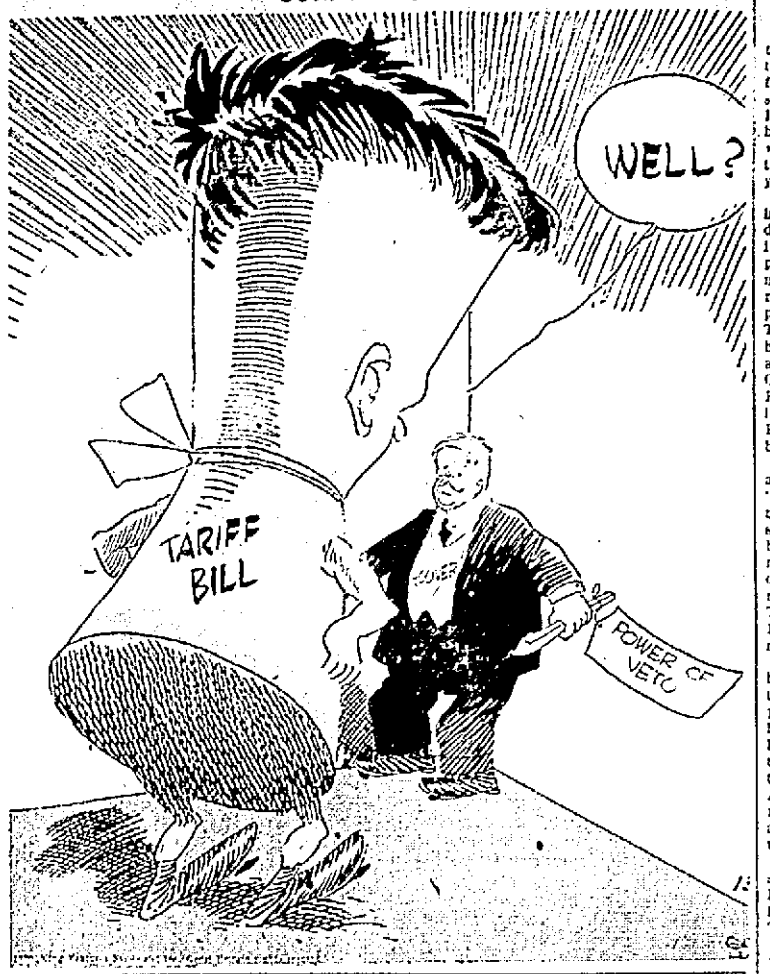
John D. Rockefeller, Jr., employs on his Pocantico Hills estate 750 persons, all of whom are residents of the vicinity. Mr. Rockefeller, it is evident, doesn't subscribe to the foolish theory, so popular in many localities, that it is necessary to go away from home to get good labor.

The 1929 report of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, the key company of the Kylsant shipping group which controls the White Star line was far from a good one. Had the customary depreciation charge been made, its balance would have been in the red, which may throw light on the real reason for the postponement of the construction of the proposed White Star liner of something like 75,000 tons.

Two men arrested by a policeman in Lynn, Massachusetts, were getting the better of him, when a police dog of unknown ownership came to his aid and turned the tide of battle. Are we to take it that it is in the police dog blood to render aid to the man in uniform whenever and wherever he is attacked?

Senator James A. Reed's speech at the state-wide Democratic rally in Sedalia, Missouri, one night last week, is considered out there to have been a bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932. Mr. Reed may be a trifle impetuous in his utterances at times, but it may be said of him that he is a real American without the slightest taint of pacifism about him, and that is saying a lot, these days.

CORNERED.



Editorial Opinion.

SOVEREIGNTY AND FEDERATION.

Certain international committees are now in session in Geneva, attempting to solve the problem of federating Europe without requiring the constituent states to relinquish any of their sovereignty. The thing can't be done. At least no confederation that is worth the paper it is written on can be formed without its component parts surrendering some of their rights.

American experience demonstrated that a century and a half ago. The permanent union of the American states under the articles of confederation was impossible. Only the constitution, which created a central government that absorbed a large share of the sovereignty of the several states, saved the United States from breaking up into conflicting groups. Can the countries of Europe, with their deep-seated, age-old feuds and conflicting interests, expect any other fate for a federation in which each of them reserves its complete independence of action?

Sovereignty implies the right of a nation or state to do what it likes, when it likes, without consulting other nations or states. We still talk in this country about the "sovereign states." A state or group of states upon which legislation can be forced by another group of states is anything but sovereign. The unsuccessful attempt of the southern states to secede from the union, when they feared such coercion, was the most graphic illustration in our own history to the extent to which the several states voluntarily surrendered their sovereignty in 1787-88 that they might profit from the political fact that in union lies strength. A state or country that commits itself in advance to agreement with other states or countries automatically gives up more or less of its sovereignty.

At a moment when nationalism is running high, admitting this obvious fact would throw a wet blanket over Aristide Briand's scheme for uniting Europe under French hegemony. So Aristide talks about each country's retaining its complete sovereignty; and the committees meet and, with ostentatious seriousness, argue the pros and cons of the impossible. They could save themselves time and trouble by reading American history. — Detroit Free Press.

THE WONDER CITY.

Los Angeles is the wonder city of the 1930 census, at least in the class of cities above 500,000. Its population has risen to 1,231,730, its increase has been 115.71 per cent., and it has jumped from tenth place to fifth. In 1920 Detroit jumped from eighth place to fourth, with an increase of 113 per cent. Detroit's was a motor splurge; Los Angeles' is an oil and "movie" splurge, each representing industrial specialties of its decade.

The "movie" metropolis grew by annexation as well as by intensification of its favorite activities. It did not suck the surrounding areas dry, however, for Los Angeles county's increase—138.88 per cent.—is larger than the city's. Southern California is a new empire, and California must be added to the other empire states—New York and Texas.

It is amazing to think that in 1890 Los Angeles had a population of only 50,395. Even in 1900 its population was only 102,479. But the silver screen, the oil gushers, the golden climate and the Middle-Western exodus got to work, and Los Angeles City has passed into the 1,000,000 class, and Los Angeles county has a population exceeding New York county's and about equaling Kings county's. When a reapportionment does justice to California, Los Angeles county will have eight or nine representatives in congress instead of two, as at present. The representatives from these two districts have a unique distinction in the house, one of them having been elected in 1928 by a majority of 102,301 and the other by a majority of 281,369. Each of these districts has a population of more than a million.

Great is Los Angeles and great is California, both now entering the flood tide of progress, population and national influence!—New York Herald Tribune.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, June 10.

J. B. Virden retired from the presidency of the Marion Township Sunday-School association after many years of service.

Dr. J. W. McMurray returned from Columbus and reported that the outlook was favorable for the construction of a fine local armory.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herron, residing four miles west of Marion; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shadler, of Lee street, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Nickelson, of the Rosewood addition.

The county commissioners reduced the county levy two-tenths of a mill, making it 8.555 mills.

Toxic Poisoning and Skin Eruption.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Hives is a most trying condition. There is an eruption of the skin and, with it the most intense itching and burning and pricking sensation. All the symptoms are made worse by scratching.

The trouble may last for only a few hours, or it may continue for days. It may disappear only to come back again. In some instances it becomes chronic, lasting for months.

Hives may occur at any time of life. It is most common in childhood when there is a weakened condition of the system or undernourishment.

There is a close sympathetic relation between the skin and the digestive tract. When the stomach or intestines are considerably disturbed, the fact may show itself in the skin, often in the form of hives.

We classify many skin diseases as among the "toxic" eruptions. It is likely that poisons in the system are the causes for such disturbances.

There are two kinds of hives, the more common being what the doctors call "urticaria," or nettle-rash. In this case there are swellings of the skin and terrible itching.

Another variety is "giant hives," or "angio-neurotic oedema." In this form there is but one or a few very large and hard swellings.

It is probable that the chief cause of hives is some kind of food-poisoning. Decomposing materials, which may remain in the digestive tract for days, do infinite harm. They form toxins or poisons which are carried to all parts of the body by the blood stream.

One person may eat one kind of food that acts as a poison in the system, while ninety-nine other persons can eat it without being affected by it in the least. This is a peculiarity of the human family.

Certain persons are made ill by shell-fish, or strawberries. Others can not eat eggs, pork, canned meat, salted fish, mushrooms or pickles without being made ill.

It is well, if you suffer from hives, to do some experimenting. Omit from the diet one food at a time. Continue this until, one after another, all the foods you usually take are eliminated. In this way you can find the offending food.

Toxic poisons are set up in the body by waste materials in the intestines. The kidneys, abscessed teeth and tonsils often are accompanied by hives.

You can not cure the hives by any local application. But you can relieve the intense itching and burning by bathing the body. Into a tub of water put a great handful of hyposulphite of soda and thoroughly lave the itching parts. A glassful of water to which is added a teaspoonful of hyposulphite of soda is also good for mopping the inflamed skin.

Your doctor should be consulted. He will find the underlying cause of the hives and give appropriate treatment.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

R. S. Q—What would cause a condition known as coccydynia and how can it be cured?

2—What causes pain in the heels?

3—What diet is advised when the system is acid?

A—Pain in the coccyx—the tip of the spine. The treatment depends on the cause. This must be located first of all. Your doctor will advise you.

2—May be due to neuritis or rheumatism. Try to locate a possible source of infection. Application of heat and massage may be helpful meanwhile.

3—Avoidance of excessive sweets and starches is advisable under these circumstances. It is also important to keep the bowels open and the system clear.

MRS. O. H. B. Q—My husband is fond of hot peppers. Are they injurious or harmful in any way?

A—Highly seasoned foods or condiments are injurious to the stomach and indigestible in most cases.

* * *

A READER. Q—What do you advise for sties?

A—Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

* * *

C. A. Q—What can be done to get rid of pimples on my face?

A—Correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid constipation.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

James Clerk Maxwell.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

James Clerk Maxwell was born in Edinburg, November 13, 1831. It is probable that he derived his scientific aptitude from his father who, while not a scientist by profession, loved to dabble in scientific experiments. He devoted himself to the task of educating his only son. At the Edinburgh academy, which young Maxwell entered at the age of ten, he showed no special promise for some years.

Reasonably friendly with the other pupils, he always remained somewhat aloof and withdrawn. He was remembered for three qualities at school: agile strength of limb, imperturbable courage and profound good nature. For a time he proved to be an all-round good student; and then began to display a remarkable ability in mathematics. Two months before he was fifteen years old, he made his first contribution to science in a paper entitled "The Description of Oval Curves and Those Having a Plurality of Foci." The paper was so remarkable that it was read for young Maxwell by Professor Forbes before the Royal Society of Edinburgh.

When young Maxwell left Edinburgh academy in 1847, not yet sixteen, he was "first in mathematics and in English and nearly first in Latin." In November of the same year he entered the University of Edinburgh, where he devoted much time to mathematics, natural philosophy, and logic. In addition to experimental research, he prepared material for two important papers: "The Theory of Rolling Curves" and "The Equilibrium of Elastic Solids." And he had not yet reached the age of nineteen!

On the family estate at Glenlair, where he spent his vacations, he had his own laboratory, where he privately carried on many experiments. In 1850 he entered Trinity college, Cambridge, being graduated four years later with high honor. After serving for a time as fellow at Trinity, he was appointed to the professorship of natural philosophy at Aberdeen, which post he held for four years, resigning in 1860 to accept a professorship at King's college, London. This post he held until 1865.

It was while he was at King's college that some of his most important papers were published, notably "Physical Lines of Force" and his greatest single contribution, "A Dynamical Theory of the Electromagnetic Field."

For some years Maxwell retired from university work, resuming it in 1870, on his election to the newly founded professorship of experimental physics at Cambridge. It was he who superintended the planning and equipment of the now famous Cavendish laboratory, of which he was director from 1871 until his untimely death after a long illness, November 5, 1879.

Maxwell is remembered for his work in color vision, which was the laying of a quantitative foundation for the theory of color sensations proposed by Thomas Young. Maxwell expressed his measurements in a series of color equations, from which can be deduced the value of any color in terms of the three fundamental colors chosen as primary. These researches into the physics of color vision are basic in the history of the subject.

Maxwell also performed important service in the field of molecular theory. By elaborate mathematics, he derived the exceedingly useful law of the distribution of velocities among molecules of a gas.

He found the value of the "mean free path," and thus rigorously showed that the value obtained was in substantial agreement with the value which he computed from data on the diffusion of gases.

His supreme contribution to science, which has proved a dominant factor in contemporary physics, lay in the field of electromagnetic theory. He made the astonishing discovery, by mathematical theory and calculation, that the electrical ether would transmit electrical waves with a speed exactly equal to that with which light was known to be transmitted.

This was an achievement of the first importance in the foundation of the electrodynamic theory of light. It may be said that he developed the mathematical machinery for explaining Faraday's experiments and conclusions regarding the electromagnetic field. It fell to the lot of Heinrich Hertz, a German scientist, rather than of Maxwell himself or one of his pupils, to verify experimentally Maxwell's epochal theory of electric waves.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 10—The rumor persists although frequently denied, the Charles M. Schwab mansion a few steps from the beginning of Riverside drive is to be demolished. It is perhaps the best-known residence in town since the wrecking of Senator Clark's moss-green-gabled castle on Fifth avenue.

The Schwab house was built some twenty years ago when the Drive was in the robust flush of aristocratic opulence and the countless of its construction filled many columns in the daily press. It was one of the first houses to have a huge electrical pipe organ, a common equipment today.

The wide sweep of terraced lawn and the high spiked iron fence were something of a novelty even in that day. On each side of the yard is the cast iron statue of a mill puddler, symbolic of the great steel master's humble beginning as one of "the Carnegie boys."

Many of the oaken doors, dormer windows and mantles were removed from historic estates in France. Megaphonists of the rubber-neck wagons continue to call out the many wonders as visitors are halted before the gates. In earlier days it blazed nightly with light.

Mr. Schwab gave many memorable parties there to millionaire friends, celebrated opera singers, authors, painters and novelists. But for the past ten years it has been cloaked in somnolent gloom. The lawn is well cared for, but, save at intervals, the place appears remote and shuttered.

The steel magnate spends most of his time at his large country place at Loretto, Pennsylvania, where he is interested in stock raising, and at his favorite recreation spot—Monte Carlo. Frequently on trips to New York he stops at one of the quiet hotels where serenity is not sacrificed for rushing service.

If the Schwab home comes down it will remove about the last of the celebrated town houses skirting the rippling Hudson. The old Bishop Potter place long ago made way for a sky-shooting apartment-house. Only the marble-fronted palace of a cigaret millionaire, clinging like one of those tiny villages to a Pyrenean crag, remains.

* * *

Fifth avenue's private homes have suffered the fate of those on Riverside drive. When Judge Gary's enormous red bricked house was wrecked to make way for the pale white shaft known as Pierre's hotel, Millionaire's row became almost a solid phalanx of de luxe and snug apartment towers, known only by numbers.

But after ten minutes the lad, who proved to be a raw meat-eating 180-pounder, departed. "I need sleep," he explained. "This New York gin is the McCoy."

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Vice Chancellor Graham, of Syracuse university, says championship athletic teams are not needed by colleges for the purpose of attracting favorable attention. Syracuse university recently had an educational exposition which drew crowds as great as a football classic. The fact remains that athletic supremacy is a lure to the eyes of youth making up its mind about college. Colleges which maintain champion teams by "professional" methods, offering extraordinary inducement to high school graduates, lose more than they gain. It soon becomes known that in this school athletics are not on the level. On the other hand a college which by wise direction turns out from year to year unusually strong teams inevitably gains a great deal of valuable advertising. This is legitimate college promotion, and those in authority are careless to overlook it.

There is a fascination about facts briefly told. One learns, for example, from the ably-edited New York Times, that for poor eyesight Germany ranks first, England, second, and the United States, third. Last year 5,000 Americans registered in Paris as students. The four sailing boats that will contend for the honor of defending America's cup will require ten acres of canvas. The United States uses more electricity than all the rest of the world together. The legitimate production of alcohol in this country now reaches 100,000,000 gallons a year. And did you know that churches in the United States gained only 300,000 members last year, which is 400,000 less than the year before?

Nansen, great Arctic explorer and famous scientist, died recently. When he was twenty-one, Nansen held an important position in a museum of natural history. He was not only a great explorer and zoologist, but he was a friend of humanity. From his youth onward he labored to get something worth while done in the world. Frequently we hear parents worry because their boys and girls are seemingly overworking in school. They seem to be doing things beyond their years. We fear to put a strain on their mental capacity. Not much danger. Most of the great men of the world were doing a man's work when they were young. They began early, and they were not fearful of using their brain equipment.

LAW ENFORCER URGES CHANGE

Wickersham Says U. S. Should Look to Other Countries for Prohibition Ideas.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass, June 10—Prohibition enforcement agencies could find cogent suggestion' in the experience of England and Wales of better methods of attaining the object of the 18th amendment than those pursued during the last decade, in the opinion of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the national commission on law observance and enforcement

A general process of education 'into the evils of excessive drinking and the advantages of other forms of innocent amusement' have been credited in large part with marked decreases in drunkenness in those countries he said here last night in addressing 5,000 social workers attending the 57th national conference of social work

Quotes British

Quoting British authorities he cited other factors, including improved housing conditions and cultural advantages, certain restrictions in hours of sale of liquors and higher quor cost

In an address devoted in large part to the problem of law enforcement, Mr Wickersham spoke specifically of the national prohibition law.

He declared that no attempts at elucidation as to its merits have been made since its enactment, temperance work has been abandoned and dependence for enforcement has been placed upon the power of the government to impose fines and imprisonment

'No process of education or attempted education of the public on the value of prohibition to accomplish the maximum of temperance in the community was attempted during this period' he commented

Education Advocated

The problem of law enforcement is a matter of education in law observance Preventive measures rather than penalties should be emphasized Sympathy and helpfulness rather than the rod the cell and the stone pile should be tried in order that lawlessness be reduced to the lowest point'

BY BOB ELLIOTT

Central Christians baseball outfit in the second Sunday school league really got to playing together last night and as a result Forest Lawn finds itself a fastly fading possibility for the championship of the league. The Christians dropped the easterners 6 to 2, hammering the offerings of Bob Peadon to all corners of the lot. Lee Street stock took a big jump as the Presbys took their fifth straight from the tail end U. B. team, 12 to 7. Wesley kept a half game behind the leaders by blanking St. Paul 18 to 0.

The Christian victory tied them with Forest Lawn for third place at three games won and two lost. The winners hit the southpaw slants of Peadon hard in the first two frames to take their third consecutive triumph. Two runs came in in the first and the other four followed immediately in the second inning. Gielsdorf and Overfield score two runs apiece and Fetter and Gillis brought in the others. The losers got to Amick in the second for their lone two runs when Vestal and Fellneth plated. The Christian hurler was nearly invincible the rest of the way.

Early Rally Wins

Lee Street was forced to use two hurlers to subdue the weak U. B. nine but a six run splurge in the first inning was too big an advantage for the losers to overcome. Charlie Burke started for the streeters but failed to last and Ben Crabtree finished the game. The U. B. club gathered a total of ten singles but two went to waste in the sixth inning when D. Tuttle and Vandehof hit safely. Blankenship and Vasey hit for the circuit for the winners.

Wesley ran wild to set back the St. Paul club 18 to 0, scoring all their runs in the first five innings on 10 hits and a few St. Paul errors. The losers got to Johnny Cook for two hits but couldn't manage to get a run across. Frankie Parr's homer in the second was the only round-tripper of the evening.

Presbyterians went into fifth place by defeating the Reform team, 7 to 5. A five run rally in the first inning evidently took the heart out of the losers, although they picked away at the offerings of Meister for a run at a time. Three hoss on balls in the first inning rally helped the winners considerably.

The scores by innings:

Reform	200 020 1—5
Presbys	500 0.0 x—7

Meister and C. Howis; Meister and Perry.

St. Paul	000 000 0—0
Wesley	211 360 0—18

D. Lindsey and Gates, Cook and Marlein, Layman.

Lee Street	610 011 x—12
U. B.	201 200 0—7

Burke, Crabtree and Conkle; Zuspan and Noble.

Christians	210 000 0—6
Forest Lawn	020 000 0—2

Amick and Prunz; Peadon, Kellogg and Peadon.

In the first nine innings of a game between Chicago and Cincinnati in 1917, neither club registered a base hit.

SPORT RAMBLINGS

BY BOB ELLIOTT

JUST as the sport is what the boys are saying concerning the Christian Street Lawn surprise result last evening in the second church loop. The Christians still is too good a ball club to be hanging around in the depths of the second division and it was just a question of time until it started going. From now on they look to be tough for any of them and my modest prediction that possibly the league leading Lee Street team will find itself in a tough position the next round.

We marvel at the three out of four winners in last night's games as it probably was the only ones that were picked by the return to form of the Central Christian team. For tonight's games in the first church league we're going to pick Epworth Seniors over the Epworth Juniors, Epworth No. 1 over the uncertain St. Mary's team, Trinity to trim Christians and Calvary to continue its winning ways at the expense of the Lutherans. The meeting of the two Epworth teams should be a good battle and St. Mary's may surprise John Clarke's Epworth No. 1 outfit.

THIS game of miniature golf that recently made its appearance in Marion with the opening of a course on Pelleontaine avenue seems to be gaining rapidly in interest here. Another course, one of the patented Tom Thumb courses, is due to open soon on Mt. Vernon avenue and there's a rep at that a third is to be built in an uptown lot although nothing definite has been decided about that. The game is a novelty but seekers to other novelties seems destined to hold its popularity.

• • •

Just a few words about the Sunday baseball situation in Marion. Nothing much to say on the subject except that the antipathy toward professional baseball here seems just as strong as it has ever been in the last few years. The Merchants have one of the strongest teams to represent Marion in a number of years. The outfield is strong. Rizor, Shipp and Bacon are O. K. but a new first baseman in place of Alexander wouldn't hurt any. The youngster is a fairly efficient fielder but rather weak with the stick. A couple of good hurlers wouldn't do so bad and Mackey's exact status as a catcher receiver is still a negative quality with me. He seems to have the stuff but he suffered a couple of lapses of memory in last Sunday's game that were absolutely unexcusable. More Anon.

MT. GILEAD BLANKS LOCAL LEGION NINE

Bill Adams, Hurling for Essex, Tosses No-Hitter Against National City.

Mt. Gilead scored its third shut out victory of the first round of play in the American Legion league when Shaffer set down the Marion Masons 10 to 0 yesterday afternoon at Idlewood Park. The visitors put the Mt. Gilead nine exactly one game behind the pace setting Marion Nationals.

In addition to allowing the locals only six scattered hits, Shaffer collected three hits including a home run to lead his team in that respect. The winners fielded good behind him, Limbaugh making only two errors. Reece, hurling for the losers, gave up 13 singles and was handicapped by seven errors behind him. Brown, Marion shortstop led both teams in stickwork with four blows in four trips to the plate.

In an exhibition game yesterday at Essex, Bill Adams, local boy, hurled for the Essex team and trimmed the 30 at National City team 5 to 1, setting down the losers without a hit long enough for his mates to score five runs. Adams' no-hit performance was spoiled in the seventh when Hoffman singled. Adams struck out 11 batters and walked only one. Essex scored two runs in the first inning and added a single in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

The lineups:

National City	000 002 020—4 0 5
Essex	001 000 22x—5 7 5

Lindsey and Houser; Adams and Conkle.

Mt. Gilead	120 201 000—10 13 2
Masons	000 000 000—0 0 7

Cleveland Catcher Out for Next Three Weeks

CLEVELAND, O., June 10—Luke Sewell, Cleveland Indians catcher, today is nursing a broken finger that will keep him out of the game for perhaps three weeks. The finger was broken yesterday by a foul tip from the bat of Jack Hayes, Washington utility man who formerly was a teammate of Sewell's at Alabama university.

Schmeling and Sharkey Fit for Heavy Scrap Thursday

LATEST ODDS MAKE BOSTON GOB 9-5 FAVORITE FOR TITLE

Million Dollar Gate Hardly Probable Despite Increase of Interest.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 10—Jack Sharkey's heavyweight championship fistic tilt with Max Schmeling on Thursday night will not draw a million dollar "gate" but there are indications now that it will pass the $900,000 total that has been predicted for it.

Mr. John P. Public is showing unmistakable signs of getting excited about the whole business. The boys on the street corners are talking about it, arguments as to the respective merits of a left hook and a right cross are common and that's what made Jack Dempsey's various title battles draw millions.

A steady rain, a drab and colorless day could not prevent the customers from appearing in droves at Madison Square Garden's box office yesterday to demand more or less choice seats for the fray at the Yankee stadium. At the end of the day, the garden announced the coffers of the milk fund sponsors of the show, had been swelled by $40,000. Recalling that $700,000 had been taken in on Friday and Saturday the garden was not slow to estimate that the total gate would pass $760,000.

Both Luck Great

Just to make the day one of unalloyed bliss for the promoters, Sharkey and Schmeling both put on great workouts at their training quarters in Orangeburg and Lodi, N. Y. The boys who will do the actual work have one more day of training ahead of them. They will rest Wednesday and come to New York in time for weighing in ceremonies at the stadium at 2 p. m. Thursday. Sharkey will come by motor from Orangeburg, while Schmeling makes the trip from Lodi by train. The Lenton skipper had planned to come by air but definitely abandoned that plan because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Principal interest here turned on the question of a referee. Neither Sharkey nor Schmeling has offered any objection to the New York state athletic commissioners plan to select the third man in the ring just before the 15 round title affair begins. A smoothing contest among the experts mentioned Tod Morgan, Jim Crowley and Kid McPartland as the most likely candidates. There were indications that Lou Magnolia, referee of the "Soul on Coal" contest between Sharkey and Phil Scott at Miami, has been ruled out of consideration.

Sharkey at 9-5

The latest betting odds favored Sharkey at 9 to 5. Odds of 1 to 3 have been offered against Sharkey scoring a knockout and 1 to 7 against Schmeling accomplishing the feat. Casting around for an explanation of the scarcity of wagering some experts were of the opinion that supporters of Schmeling are waiting for longer odds before putting down their cash.

The radio details of the match will be broadcast by the usual national hook up by the National Broadcasting company with Graham McNamee the probable choice for duty at the microphone.

The athletic commission was to decide later today the status of Lee Jacobs, Schmeling's manager of choice. Jacobs has been under suspension here for months but the general expectation was that he would be granted a temporary license in time to handle Schmeling in his career the night of the fight.

WASHINGTON DROPS SECOND STRAIGHT TO CLEVELAND INDIANS

A's Increase Lead to Three Games as Tribe Climbs Steadily.

Baseball games won in the spring count as much as the ones won in September but the Washington Senators are discovering that it takes more than an April and May winning streak to keep in the midst of the American league fight.

True the Senators are still clinging tenaciously to second place in the junior circuit but every day sees the Indians creeping closer and closer. Today Cleveland is only a half game away while out in front setting a burning pace, are the Athletics with a three game lead.

On May 25 Walter Johnson had the Senators showing the way by four full games, with the world champions showing no symptom the fast clip. Then something happened to the seemingly perfect machine. The batters failed to hit and the pitchers lacked the magic touch that had the baseball world talking of the "Big Trainload" parade. In ten games since that date the Senators have won only two while Connie Mack, with substitutes playing the role of regulars, has accounted for ten of his 12 contests. The Indians also shuffled into high and won seven of their last ten games. A glance at the records show the Athletics to be playing real baseball since May 25 with the Indians batting .300 clip and the Senators .200.

Indians Close

The Indians today stood within grasp of runner up honors as the result of a 5 to 1 victory over the Senators yesterday. With Lefty Morgan pitching the big gun of the Cleveland power and Walter Miller hurling good ball in the pinches, Cleveland came from behind to raise out their rivals in the eighth inning. Morgan hit a home run with one on and then added a triple later in the game.

Taking advantage of the Senators' defeat the Athletics strengthened their hold on first place by eking out a victory over the White Sox 3 to 2. Big Bob Weiland held the champions at bay for eight innings, but in the ninth they touched two of their six hits with a base on balls and a sacrifice fly to score what proved to be the tying and winning runs.

Ted Kimsey turned in a brilliant bit of relief hurling at St. Louis but it failed the Yankees to have hits in six innings failed to stop them from defeating the Browns 5 to 3. The Yanks scored seven of their runs off Crowder in the first three innings. Kimsey went to the mound with none out in the third, gave two hits that inning and thereafter had the New Yorkers biting out his hand with the exception of one run scored in the ninth. The Browns slowly pounded away at Ruffing, once of the Red Sox, until they finally got him to the showers in the eighth. Harry Johnson rushed in to save the day although the Browns added the base in the left of the ninth.

In the other game played the major leagues the Red Sox rained out Detroit 7 to 6 by reason of a late run rally in the seventh. Manager Gaston held the Tigers to nine hits. All of the National league games were postponed either because of rain or wet grounds.

LEGION NINES READY FOR BIG SCHEDULE

League-Leading Marion National Team Good Bet for Championship.

Teams in the American Legion league face a busy week starting this afternoon and not ending until late Saturday afternoon. The league leading Marion National park team which seems a sure bet for the championship has one regular loop engagement carded with Carlington and exhibition tilts with the Ft. Legion nine and Magnetic Springs.

The only game scheduled for today was the Ft. Legion National City contest which was looked to start at 1:30 Wednesday is the big day of the week with three league games on hand. St. Mary's meets Pulliam Dep at Lincoln at 1:30. Carlington opposes Marion National two hours later, and the Masons will travel to Mt. Gilead to tackle the fast nine of that town.

A singleton is on the book for Thursday with Marion National facing the Magnetic Springs team on the latters diamond. Two games are booked for Friday, both at Lincoln Park starting at 1:30. Marion National meets the Ft. Legion in the first and Carlington tackles the Masons in the second.

Saturday's double header at Lincoln sees two league games.

Club Trying To Get Alexander

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., June 10—The Dallas club of the Texas league is negotiating for the services of Grover Cleveland Alexander, major league star pitcher for 14 years, Bob Tarleton, business manager of the club, said last night.

Tarleton said he had wired Alexander, and that Alexander's reply "indicated he was interested." If he comes to Dallas, Tarleton added, "he'll probably have the distinction of being the highest salaried pitcher in Texas league history."

Willie Kamm Benched by White Sox Manager

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 10—Willie Kamm who led American league third baseman in field in 1925 and 1928, has been benched by Manager Donie Bush of the White Sox. Kamm has failed to get started this season and was included in a wholesale shift which sent Irving Jeffries to third base, Smead Jolley from right field to left, Carl Reynolds to right and Johnny Watwood to center in an effort to add punch to the Sox attack.

Herbert's Music Intersperses Medley Program

FRANK BLACK, whose several distinctions include suitability to orchestrate a song and carry on a conversation about chemical formulas at the same time, has prepared as the piece de resistance for the Happy Bakers' program Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. through Station WEAF, a medley, interspersed with vocal interludes of five waltzes by Victor Herbert.

They range from the late composer's early days as a writer of operetta scores to his later works, and include "Kiss Me Again," "Falling in Love with Someone," "A Kiss in the Dark," "Ask Her While the Band Is Playing," and "When You're Away." The vocal interludes will be sung by the Bakers' Trio—Jack Parker, tenor, Frank Luther, tenor, and Phil Dewey, baritone.

Further originality—originality in the sense that something else will be done differently than ever before—will be injected in the program with an arrangement of W. C. Handy's "Memphis Blues" by Will Donaldson, accompanist and director of the Trio. Mr. Donaldson has arranged many "blues" for the Trio but this is his first version of Handy's low down classic.

Court Overrules Motion

A motion of defense counsel for a new trial in the damage case of Arthur Manheim, Cleveland salesman, against Jean Hamilton, Marion school teacher, was overruled yesterday by Common Pleas Court Judge George H. Scofield.

Manheim was given a verdict of $1,000 by a jury which heard the case on May 20.

The case resulted from an automobile accident two years ago on the Harding Highway west of the city when Miss Hamilton's car and that of Manheim sideswiped, sending the Cleveland man into the ditch. Miss Hamilton at the time of the collision was entering upon the main highway from a side road.

RHEUMATISM IS SOON BANISHED BY NEW KONJOLA

Dayton Man On Road to Health Praises New and Different Medicine.

MR. HARRY G. RIBLING, JR.

"Konjola is the very medicine I should have been taking long ago," said Mr. Harry G. Ribling, Jr., 29 St. Marys Street, Dayton. "For four years I suffered with rheumatism in my feet and legs. My feet would actually swell until there were times when I could not put on my shoes. My stomach trouble was so severe that it gave me much misery. This naturally affected my general health and caused loss of sleep.

"My mother had taken Konjola and had gotten good results. I decided to give it a trial and was surprised at the benefit I received from this medicine. I have taken four bottles and feel much relieved. I believe that if I keep on taking it, it will be but a question of time until my ailments will have disappeared entirely."

Konjola is not a "cure-all." There is no such thing. This medicine, however, taken with regularity over a period of from six to eight weeks, will produce amazing results. Countless thousands of endorsements have proven that Konjola makes good, even in the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Marion, Ohio, at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Tom Mix, Conqueror of Screen Villains, Too Slow To Stop Daughter's Wedding

By The Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 10—Tom Mix, cowboy film hero, who on the screen has pursued many villians many times, always with success, started 20 minutes too late to pursue his eloping daughter, Ruth Jane Mix, and today she was Mrs. Douglas Gilmore.

The 17-year-old bride and her actor-husband were expected here today from Yuma, Ariz., where they were married yesterday at 10:45 a. m. Mrs. Olive Stokes Mix, the girl's mother and Tom Mix's divorced wife, was waiting to give them her blessing. She said today that she had opposed the marriage because the 27-year-old bridegroom had been married before and for other reasons, but that she would "help make the best of it."

Father Acts Too Late

Mix heard of his daughter's elopement yesterday when he read a note she had left behind in the traditional fashion before she departed for the Arizona line with Gilmore, about 1 a. m. He immediately called his attorney, who telephoned J. C. Hunter of Yuma county to stop the ceremony. Hunter found the couple at a hotel. They displayed their certificate of marriage and informed him he was "too late."

In California brides must be 18 years old and three days' notice is required before issuance of a marriage license. In Arizona girls of 16 are permitted to wed unless their parents make formal objection. Miss Mix said she was 18 when she and Gilmore secured their license.

Honeymoons Spoiled

The Gilmores had planned to spend a brief honeymoon in Yuma, but the attention attracted by the visit of the star's to their hotel make them change their minds, and Gilmore announced that they would return to his home here.

Mrs. Mix said her daughter and Gilmore twice previously had planned to elope.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

"Rogue Song Good Show, and Entertaining

THE reputed "world's greatest tenor" is a fiery actor and a devilish rogue at the Marion for the last times tonight. Lawrence Tibbett sings and sings so gloriously that we could hear him again, in his first picture, "The Rogue Song."

Tibbett plays the role of Yegor, tribal chieftain, a colorful singing chief of a band of mountain bandits. He meets Vera, a Russian princess marooned by a storm in a mountain inn. Yegor sings for the princess, and her scornful companion in a jealous rage plans to have him hanged, but the princess, interested, saves him.

Just when he and the princess acknowledge their love for each other he learns that his sister has been betrayed by the brother of his sweetheart, and is dead. He kills the prince and the princess is outraged. Yegor kidnaps her and on one of their trips she tricks him into going by the stronghold of her uncle. Soldiers capture Yegor and he is lashed and tortured. Remorse comes to the princess, but the barrier of royal blood between them still stands in the way of love, until the dramatic climax solves the problem of their strange romance.

Need we say that Laurel and Hardy make the most of their first part in a feature length picture, by stealing some of the scenes. Their comedy is rich.

Skinner Steps Out, and Makes Grade

SKINNER just didn't have that go-get-'em personality. In fact, business executives shriveled him to a nervous wreck. But watch "Skinner Steps Out" at the Ohio tonight and go into some hearty laughs. At times "Skinner" is rather over-drawn by Glenn Tryon, but on the whole, it's refreshingly light entertainment. Merna Kennedy is easy to look at as Mrs. Skinner.

She believes that her husband is the human in whom the sun rises and sets, and is ambitious for his success. Skinner lets her believe that he runs the office, until one day, to soothe her and make her believe he's almost president of his company, he tells her he's gotten a $10 a week raise.

On this mythical $40 a month he buys a dress suit and she buys an evening wrap and gown and they step out and get acquainted with the 400. Skinner forces himself upon the attention of his employer, and of his employer's chief rival, whose admiration he wins when he bluffs him out of a poker pot. Skinner blows a consolidation of the two firms—a consolidation which should, and later does, go through.

However, his spirit and enthusiasm so impress his superiors that he is made sales manager of the consolidated at $400 a month and his name on a door. H. H.

ANITA PAGE—CHARLES MORTON
Suggested by Eddie Cantor's Book!
Polly and Marie all tied up in ticker tape trying to get rich quick!
Piling up a fortune! Going on a Spree! Buying swell clothes! Having a grand time!
Then—the stock market crash!
And the awful news—Caught Short! Bad news for Polly and Marie! But a scream for you!
